WHICH WE have heard and known and our fathers be born; who should arise and declare them to their children. —PSALM LXXVIII.

INTRODUCTION.

HERE and there along the line of two centuries, individual members of the Conrad—Conard—Connard family have gathered stray items of family history, and in many instances, dates and names have been preserved; but until the author of this little volume began his research, no one had collected all of the scraps of history regarding Thones Kunders and his family which are found herein.

That these facts might not be wholly lost, the author has collected from many sources all the information obtainable regarding this worthy ancestor of our family; one of the original settlers at Germantown; an humble wool dyer from the banks of the Rhine, who, settling in the untrodden wilds of America, and pursuing the even tenor of a modest and uneventful life, "buildd better than he knew."

Being a lineal descendant of Henry Cunreds, his youngest son, the author's interest has been particularly attracted to him and there is presented herewith the names of the descendants of Henry, for six generations, more than fourteen hundred in all, mostly "plain folk," but as a rule thrifty, intelligent and honorable people, a natural and creditable outgrowth of the sturdy German ancestry from which they came.

THE FIRST GERMANTOWN SEAL.

The Early German Settlers.

WILLIAM PENN, in the spring of 1683, conveyed to a half dozen residents of Crefeld, Germany, about eighteen thousand acres of land in Pennsylvania, situated in the neighborhood of Germantown. Shortly afterwards the enterprise was started which resulted in the formation of the Frankfort Company in 1686. Altogether the Frankfort Company secured twenty-five thousand acres of land from William Penn. The evident purpose in view in the grant of these large tracts of land was colonization from Germany.

On July 24, 1683, the first little band of German emigrants set sail in the good ship "Concord," for Pennsylvania. There were thirteen men with their families, comprising thirty-three persons, nearly all of whom were relatives, all hailing from Crefeld, a city of the lower Rhine in Germany, a few miles from the borders of Holland. Crefeld was chiefly noted for its manufacture of silk, linen and other woven goods, and these manufacturies were first established by persons fleeing from religious intolerance. Among the number on the ship "Concord" was Thones Kunders, a man, at that time, presumably of twenty-five or thirty years of age, and his wife Elin, supposed to have been a sister of William Streypers, the latter being also one of the emigrants.

At that time Thones Kunders had three children and they were brought with him on the ship. Daniel Francis Pastorius, the most conspicuous of the German emigrants of those days, by reason of his great learning and familiarity with many languages together with his high social position at home, had previously consulted with these Crefeld people and arranged the details of their enterprise. * He had sailed for America some six weeks previous and landed at Philadelphia, August 20, 1683. His manuscript says, "I talked with Tunes Kunders and his wife, Dirck, Hermann and Abraham Op den Graeff, and many others, who six weeks later followed me."

These emigrants were largely Mennonites and Friends in religion. Both of these sects believed in inward piety and a godly humble life, considered all strife and warfare as unchristian, abstained from taking oaths, opposed a paid ministry, favored silent prayer and exercised a strict discipline over their members. The voyage was pleasant and uneventful, and on the 6th day of October, 1683, the pioneers landed at Philadelphia, having been seventy-four days in making the passage. On the 12th of the same month a warrant was issued to Pastorius for six thousand acres of land "on behalf of the German and Dutch purchasers." On the 24th Thomas Fairman measured off fourteen divisions of land, and a few days afterwards, meeting together in the cave of Pastorius, they drew lots for the choice of location, as shown by the following agreement made twenty-six years afterwards.

We whose names are to these presents subscribed, do hereby certify unto all whom it may concern, that soon after our arrival in this province of Pennsylvania, in October, 1683, to our certain knowledge, Herman Op den Graeff, Dirk Op den Graeff, and Abraham Op den Graeff, as well as ourselves, in the cave of Francis Daniel Pastorius at Philadelphia, did cast lots for the respective lots which they and we then began to settle in Germantown, and the said Graeffs (three brothers) have sold their several lots, each by himself, no less than if a division in writing had been made by them.

Witness our hands this 29th Nov. A. D. 1709. Lenart Arets, Jan Lensen, Thones Kunders, Willem Streypers, Abraham Tunes, Jan Lucken, Reiner Tysen.

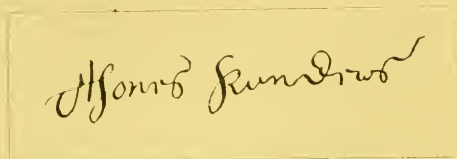

On these lots they proceeded at once to build their houses, rude and primitive though the structures were, described by some of the writers of that day as caves, being built probably against the sides of the hills with rough coverings to serve as roofs. Charles S. Keyser, Esq., in his paper read at the Keyser re-union in 1888, says, "that day our ancestor arrived, what is now an avenue of the city of Philadelphia, paved and lighted for a distance of nine miles, was not then even the Germantown road, but only an Indian pathway, lined with laurel bushes; caves here and there, cellars with some shelter over them, houses as they were called, fifty altogether; one with two stories, and one mill to supply the town with flour. In these houses were high-backed chairs, round tables, pewter dishes and spinning wheels. One man's cellar, it might be, with its shelter of branches was one of their meeting houses. * * * *

"Various languages were spoken here, some French much German and much Dutch, and continued to be spoken for nearly a century after. Farther from man and nearer to God, seems to have been upon their lips and in their lives, coming to this wilderness.

"With these peculiar people were the simple workers, toiling in the gardens, weaving in their caves and houses, working from daylight to darkness; these had also their peculiarities, the women went about in their short skirts and petticoats; we yet remember some of us, the old grandmothers or great-grandmothers, with kerchiefs snowy white, folded across their breasts, who survived down to the beginning of our passing generation. White linen was worn here and woven here, pure and spotless as the snow, making the town notable; all of these men and women worshipped together, striving to do the will of the Saviour as it is written in the scriptures, without magistrates and without laws, and without ceremonies, without poverty, and without crime; with an earnest endeavor to conform their lives as far as it was possible to them to the image of the Saviour on this earth."

The winter following must have been one of hardship and privation to these "strangers in a strange land," as they doubtless had only enough of the necessities of life to keep soul and body together. Pastorius writing afterwards, said, "it could not be described nor would it be believed by coming generations, in what want and need, and with what Christian contentment and persistent industry this Germantownship started."

THE SIGNATURE OF THONES KUNDERS.

Here it was that our ancestor Thones Kunders, in the plainest possible way, with scanty means, but possessing thrift and industry, settled down with his wife and three boys to work out for himself a livelihood in America. On June 18, 1683, before starting for America, he purchased from Lenart Arets, a weaver in the town of Crefeld, whose wife was a sister of Kunder's wife, for a consideration of £10, a warrant for five hundred acres of land to be located in Pennsylvania, which Arets had purchased from William Penn. Most of these Crefeld emigrants were weavers; they made "very fine German Linen, such as no Person of Quality need be ashamed to wear," and by strict economy and frugality succeeded in making a living, and laying by in the course of years a fair competency for that day.

Part of the walls of the house built by Kunders are still standing, (1891), and form part of the house known as No. 4537 Germantown Avenue, occupied for several years past as a barber shop by Christopher Kinzel. At one time it was known as Leshner's tavern. Kunders also owned "Side Lot No. 2," situated near the railroad bridge at Wayne Junction on the west side of Germantown Avenue.

In 1683, very soon after the arrival of this little band, the first Friends meeting in Germantown was held in the house of Thones Kunders, and likely was continued there until the first meeting-house was built in 1686, and it is reasonable to presume that the dignified Penn "sat in silence" under old Kunder's roof. That Kunders was a devout Friend, is evident from the provision in his will, where he gave to his son-in-law, Griffith

Jones, "The bed and furniture standing in the New Room to be for the use of friends."

The Friends at Germantown built their meeting-house of stone in 1705. It stood in their present graveyard on the street. Thones Kunders contributed £10 11s. toward it, presumably part in work and part in money.

While living at Crefeld, Thones Kunders carried on the trade of a blue dyer, and continued the same after settling in Germantown. In his will he speaks of his "out-houses, stills, and Dying Kettle, Worms and Wormtubbs thereunto belonging." At one time he was recorder of the Court. In 1688, the little band of Friends at Germantown, Thones Kunders being one of them, raised their voices in opposition to the institution of slavery, it being the first recorded protest against slavery in America. In 1691, on a charter of incorporation being granted to the village, Thones Kunders was chosen one of the burgesses, and the records show him to have served as a jurymen on several occasions. As early as 1701, steps were taken to start a school at Germantown with Pastorius as teacher. Thones Kunders, with sixty-three others, was naturalized, 3d mo. 7th, 1691, and his three oldest sons, Cunraed, Madtis and John, were naturalized February 20th, 1713, to hold and enjoy lands. He continued to live at Germantown the remainder of his life, in all a period of forty-six years, his death occurring in the fall of 1729, the exact date not being known, and his remains I presume were laid at rest in the graveyard adjoining the old Friends Meeting at Germantown. As no mention is made of his wife in his will it is to be supposed that she died before him. Seven children were born to Thones and Elin Kunders. Their names were Cunraed, Madtis, John, Ann, Agnes, Henry and Elizabeth. The first three were born at Crefeld, the others at Germantown.

Proud, in his history of Pennsylvania says, "Among the first Germantown settlers was Dennis Conrad. The first religious meeting of the Quakers, in that place, was held at his house in 1683. He was an hospitable, well-disposed man, of an inoffensive life and good character. He died in the year 1729."

THE SIGNATURE OF CUNRAED CUNRAEDS

CUNRAED CUNRAEDS, the oldest child of Thones and Elin Kunders, was born 5th month 17th, 1678, in Crefeld, Germany. He was twice married, first on 5th month, 1704, to Ann Klinken, who was born at Toppenburk, Germany, on 6th month 4th, 1683, and was a daughter of Aret Klinken, who came from Holland with William Penn in his first voyage in 1682. Klinken had seen and known Penn in Holland. He built the first two-story house ever raised in Germantown; and Penn was present and partook of the raising dinner. He died at the age of eighty. He left a son whose name was Anthony, whom Watson in his Annals, speaks of as being a great hunter, spending a long life in such pursuits. It was said that he would have the garret of his house filled in winter with wild game, and had it marked with the date that he killed it, so as to eat it in due succession as an epicure. He would wade the Wissahickon in the depth of winter and finally contracted gout and rheumatism, which so ossified the flesh of his knuckles, that he could scrape chalk from them when old. Anthony was born about 1677 and died about 1759. The name Anthony appears in almost every generation of Cunraeds descendants, and evidently started from this peculiar character.

Cunraed Cunraeds was married a second time on 8th month 12th, 1721, to Anne Burson, of Perkiomen. The latter marriage is recorded in the records of the Gynedd Friends meeting and took place at the public meeting at Germantown. The father of the groom, Thones Kunders, was present at the marriage and signed the certificate, as did also his three brothers, Madtis, John and Henry and the latter's wife, Katharine.

Cunraed seems to have spent most of his married life in Worcester Township in Montgomery County, Pa., and died there in 1747, aged sixty-nine years. He bought one hundred acres of land in Worcester from Robert Jones in 1723. In 1728 a release given by him to Anthony Morris recites that he was then living in "New Bristol or Skippack." Another old document dated 1730 mentions Cunraed as living at "Matachin." He was one of the executors of his father. There is some evidence that he belonged to the Reformed Church, although married twice by Friends Ceremony, and seems to have belonged to the church in Worcester known as "Wentz," situated a mile above Centre Point. He may have been buried there but there is no tombstone or record of the fact.

His will was dated Feb. 2, 1747, and was proved March 10th of the same year, showing that he died between those dates. His wife doubtless died before him, not being mentioned in the will. His oldest son, Anthony, was willed five shillings. In 1737 he deeded a farm of seventy-five acres to his son, Anthony, and doubtless considered that he had received his proper share. His son Henry was given the homestead "the 100 acres I bought of Anthony Morris." This is supposed to have been the present Heebner farm, near the Worcester creamery. His third son, James, received the residue of his father's land. He and Henry were the executors. One son, John, seems to have been of weak or infirm mind, as his share of £40 is left in trust to his brothers, Anthony and Henry. He had six children, all sons, named respectively, Anthony, Henry, James, John, Joseph and Dennis, all of whom married and had children except John and Joseph.

Many of his descendants emigrated to Virginia.

THE SIGNATURE OF MADTIS CONDER.

MADTIS CONDER, the second son, was born in Crefeld, Germany, 11th month 25, 1679. He married Barbara Tyson 5th month 29th, 1706, presumably a daughter of Reiner Tyson, one of the original Crefeld emigrants, a man who figured as one of the leading Friends in the Germantown Colony. Madtis followed the occupation of a husbandman, and died in 1726, three years before his father, and when but forty-seven years of age. His wife and seven children born of the marriage survived him. The children were all minors at the time of his death, and were named respectively, Anthony, Margaret, who married Jacob Shoemaker, Cornelius, Magdalen, who married George Inglass, William, John and Mathias. He named his brothers, John of Upper Dublin, and Henry of Whitpain, for guardians of his children, and appointed "my well beloved wife" to be sole executrix of his estate. He expressed the desire that his wife and children should "live peacably and lovingly together on my plantation, and that my children be maintained out of the profits thereof during their minority." His will was doubtless made during his death sickness, and at a time when he was too weak in body to sign his name. He lived, however, some six or seven months after preparing his will. Madtis was married at Germantown and continued to live there during his married life. His children were all born there. His descendants, most of whom adopted and spelt their names "Conard," are to be found in Chester, Lancaster, Bucks and Montgomery Counties, and in Philadelphia and New Jersey. Among the descendants of Madtis are Samuel Conard, who for many years was the junior partner in the firm of Cooper & Conard, of 9th and Market Sts., Philadelphia, and also the Conards who have been for so long identified with the Dingee & Conard Nurseries of West Grove, in Chester County. Madtis and his wife were doubtless buried in the old Friends graveyard at Germantown.

[Proved March 21, 1765.]

ANN CUNRAD, the fourth child, and first daughter, was born at Germantown, 5th mo. 4th, 1684, and was the first child of the family born in America. She was married 7th mo. 26th, 1715, to Leonard Streypers, presumably a son of William Streypers and a brother of Katherine Streypers, who married Henry Cunreds a brother of Ann. Ann and her husband are supposed to have been first cousins. Of their descendants but very little is known.

AGNES CUNRAD, the fifth child, and second daughter, was born at Germantown, 9th mo. 28th, 1686, and was married 10th mo. 26th, 1709, to Samuel Powell. Further than this nothing seems to be known of her.

THE SIGNATURE OF HENRY CUNREDS.

HENRY CUNREDS, the sixth child and youngest son of Thones Kunders and Elin, his wife, was born at Germantown on 12th mo. 16, 1688. His single life was spent, it is supposed, with his father, and he married a few months after attaining his majority. He was married 6th mo. 28, 1710, at Friends meeting at Germantown, to Katherine Streeper, a daughter of William Streypers, one of the Crefelders who came over in the "Concord." He and his wife were first cousins, his mother being a sister of William Streypers. On May 16, 1711, nearly a year after his marriage he bought of Charles Mullen and Honor his wife, a tract of two hundred and twenty acres, and one hundred and eleven perches of land in Whitpain township, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, for which he paid £175. This tract is located near Blue Bell, and the small stone dwelling-house which he built and in which he continued to live during the remaining forty-seven years of his life, was standing until within the past few years. In 1738 he bought three acres adjoining, from William Roberts for £4, and in 1748 a tract adjoining of fifty acres from Joseph Roberts for £112. In the deed from Mullen, his name is spelt "Kooners." The ground lies rather low, is of undulating surface, and in early times this section was called "the cloot." By dint of persistent industry he cleared the land, and made a comfortable home for himself and children. Seven sons were born to him, named, William, Dennis, John, Peter, Joseph, Benjamin and Samuel. The fact that he was married by Friends ceremony would indicate that he belonged to that religious persuasion, but after his marriage no clue can be discovered as to what meeting he attended, or that he continued his connection with that denomination. A letter still in existence from the Friends at Germantown, directed "To Friends of the Monthly Meeting at Gwinedd," sets forth.

"Whereas our friends Henry Conrads and Catharine his wife after their Removal from Germantown to Plymouth are now resolved to joyn themselves as members to your aforesaid monthly meeting, and therefore did request of us a certificate on that account. We hereby do certify that the sd our friends, are both of a sober and honest Conversation. * * * * * So we commit the sd our friends to the further Guidance of God's holy Spirit, and commend them to your good Fellowship in the Truth, wherein we heartily Salute you, remaining your affectionate Friends and Brethren.

Signed by our Monthly Meeting at Abington in the County of Philadelphia, the 24th day of the 4th mo, 1717.

This letter is in the handwriting of Francis Daniel Pastorius, and is signed by thirty-six of the Abington Friends, among the signers being Thones Kunders, the father of Henry, and Elisabeth Jones his sister. It will be noticed that this letter was given nearly seven years after his marriage; up to that time, he and his wife had doubtless held their membership with the Abington Friends, but there is no record to show that this letter was ever presented, or that he or his wife united with the Plymouth or Gynedd meetings, and the fact that this letter was found among his papers, is strong proof that it was never presented. This letter and the original deeds of conveyance to Henry, of three tracts of land in Whitpain, are now in the possession of Lewis Conrad of Philadelphia, a lineal descendant. The original marriage certificate of Henry Cunreds and Katherine Streepers, is now in the possession of J. Hicks Conrad, of Philadelphia, also a lineal descendant. The latter contains the signatures of fifty witnesses, among whom are six of the thirteen heads of families who came over in the "Concord." Henry Cunrad died early in the month of September, 1758. His wife had doubtless died before. His will is dated September 2, 1758, and states that he was "Weak in Body." As his will was proven on the 12th of the same month, he lived only a day or so after signing it. His entire landed estate was left to his two sons Joseph and Benjamin, who were appointed executors. They afterwards divided it into two parts as provided by the will, Benjamin retaining the homestead and continuing on it during his life. A small portion of Henry's land still remains in the possession of the Stockdales, who are great-grand-children of Henry.

Signed Sealed and Published by the sd Henry Cunrad as his Last Will and Testament in the presence of us who att his request has subscribed our names as Witnesses thereunto. Benjamin Dickinson, Joseph Roberts, James Wood.

[Proven 12th Sept. 1758.]

ELIZABETH CUNRAD, seventh and last child, was born at Germantown, 2d mo. 28th, 1691, and was married 11th mo. 30th, 1709, to Griffith Jones. At the time Thones Kunders made his will, he speaks of his son-in-law Griffith Jones as dwelling with him. This was in the year 1722. My presumption is that the wife of Thones had died previous to this time, and that Thones was making his home with his daughter Elizabeth and her husband, in the old house in Germantown which Thones had built. By his will this house "and the lot thereunto belonging containing fifty acres" was devised to his son-in-law, Griffith Jones, provided the latter should pay the sum of £150 which was to be distributed among the seven children of Thones. Griffith Jones seems to have had the respect and confidence of Thones, for he is entrusted with the execution of the details of his will, and is also appointed one of his executors. If Elizabeth and her husband had children, nothing seems to be known of them. I suppose that she and her husband are buried in the old Friend Burying Ground at Germantown.

SKETCH OF JOHN CUNRAD "OF NORRITON."

JOHN, the third son of Henry Cunreds of Whitpain, was born on the old homestead of his father in Whitpain township, and about the time of reaching his majority he married Ann Rogers and removed to Norriton township. He and Ann (Rogers) his wife, lived in Norriton Township on a farm of fifty-four acres, situated on the turnpike road, now known as DeKalb Street extended, about a half mile from the borough limits of Norristown. The farm at present belongs to the DeHavens. Ann Rogers was born 7th mo. 9th, 1721, and was the daughter of Robert Rogers and Rebecca —— his wife, and Robert Rogers had owned this farm in his lifetime; his executors, Nathan Potts and Robert Connard, deeding the same to John Cunrad on May 2d, 1773. Here the entire married life of John and Ann was spent. John died in 1793, and by his will left everything to his widow Ann, during her life, and after her death the farm was to be sold and the proceeds divided, share and share alike among his five children, except Henry and Sarah, who received £10 each in addition to their one-fifth share. His son Robert, some thirteen years previous to his father's death, had gone to Nova Scotia, in company with Enoch Supplee, who had married his sister Sarah. Tradition says that both of these persons were tories during the Revolution, and they got the credit of committing depredations in the neighborhood against certain loyal Americans. The indignation arising in the community led them to foreign parts for safety. In his father's will, provision is made "that if my son Robert does not come to demand his dividend within the space of seven years next after the decease of my said wife, that then and in such case his share shall be equally divided between my other children and their heirs." Robert, however, after the death of his mother did come and demanded his dividend and received the same from his father's executors. In the latter years of his life Robert was greatly afflicted with palsy. John's personal property was appraised at £35, 13p, and 2s. Ann, the widow of John, lived fifteen years after her husband's death, making her home during that time with her son Benjamin, on the old home place. At her death in 1807, the farm was sold to one of the grandsons, John Conrad, but he evidently took the title merely as a formality, for it was shortly afterwards deeded to his father Benjamin, a son of John and Ann. Benjamin lived there during the remainder of his life, and at his death in 1817, it was purchased by his sons Robert and Henry, who continued to own it for several years. A sister of Ann Rogers, named Rebecca, married Meshalmiah Alloway, and their daughter Sarah Alloway, married the above named Benjamin Conrad.

SKETCH OF HENRY CONRAD, SON OF JOHN.

HENRY CONRAD, son of John Cunrad and Ann (Rogers) his wife, was born on the farm in Norriton Township, now occupied by ——— DeHaven about a mile from the borough limits of Norristown, Pa., on DeKalb Street, extended. His birth occurred on 1st mo. 25th, 1763, and he learned the trade of a weaver which he followed afterwards in conjunction with farming. He was married 2d mo. 27th, 1787, to Anne Osborn, daughter of Richard Osborn and Elizabeth (Conrad), the latter being a lineal descendant of Cunraed Cunraed, the oldest son of old Thones. The Osborns lived in Worcester Township. Henry Conrad was one of the executors of his father. Eight years after Henry's marriage he bought the farm on the Jolly Road in Whitpain Township, containing about 133 acres, on which John M. Conrad now resides (1891). It was deeded to him by "The Corporation for the Relief of the Widows and Children of Clergymen in the Communion of the Church of England in America," under date of October 19th, 1795, for a consideration of £550. Here he continued to live during the remainder of his life, and a family of twelve children was born to him and his wife Anne. Of these, only six married, and but three out of the twelve died leaving children. His third son, Benjamin, gained quite a local celebrity as a school teacher, having taught the schools at "North Star" and the "Five Points" for several winters. Benjamin died when but forty-six years of age and unmarried. Henry died at his home in Whitpain, on 12th mo. 2d, 1838, in the seventy-sixth year of his age. His wife survived him, and continued to live at the old homestead with her son Nathan. She died 12th mo. 7th, 1852, aged eighty-two years. Henry's estate amounted to about eleven thousand dollars. His homestead he left to his widow for life, and at her death to his son Nathan, who was to pay $3,700 to the other heirs. Nathan, his son, continued to live on the farm, during nearly all of his life, and at his death in 1872, it went to his son John M. Conrad, who is the present occupant. Henry was a member of the Plymouth Meeting, and both he and his wife are buried there.

SKETCH OF AARON CONRAD.

AARON CONRAD, son of Henry Conrad and Anne (Osborn), was born 12th mo. 25th. 1805, in Whitpain Township, Montgomery County, Penna., on the farm where John M. Conrad now lives (1891). He learned milling as a trade, first with David Harry at Conshohocken, where he stayed only a short while, and then went to the Rittenhouse mill on the Wissahickon. He was married first to Abigail Roberts, daughter of John and Rachel Roberts, on the 12th of 2d mo., 1829. The marriage took place in Plymouth meeting. During the first year of his married life he lived with his wife's mother in the Roberts house (now Steinmetz's) and he carried on the mill adjoining. While living here a daughter, Rachel R., was born to them. She was the only child of the first marriage, and in 1855 was married to Elwood Jones, of Conshohocken, where she still lives. The next two years he lived in the small house near the mill. In 1832 he bought a farm on Sandy Hill a mile or so above Norristown, now known as the Jackson Knox farm, and continued to live there for ten years. His first wife died while he lived at this place. She was buried at Plymouth. In 1842 he moved to Nicetown, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, with the intention of going into the coal business with George Mulvany, but there being a long delay in getting a siding into the coal yard from the Richmond branch of the Reading railroad, George Mulvany gave up the idea and went to storekeeping in Germantown. Aaron succeeded in getting the siding in the winter of 1842-3, and started the coal business which he successfully conducted until 1851, when he moved to Bridesburg, on the Delaware River, on a tract of twenty-six acres which he bought, adjoining the U. S. Arsenal at that place. The coal business he sold to John Rowlett, from Abington. He was a widower from 1842 to 1847, and during that time had two housekeepers, Mary Markley and Emeline Adams. During the time that he was in the coal business, he had, at different times, three clerks, Isaac Styer, Jacob Childs and John R. Conrad. The coal yard was situated at three different points, not far apart. He built a dwelling house at Nicetown about the year 1845, on part of the twenty-five acres that were sold to John Rowlett.

He was married the second time to Sarah W. Pennypacker, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth Pennypacker, of Schuylkill Township, Chester County, Pa., on April 27th, 1847, the ceremony being performed by a Baptist minister, at a small house owned by the bride's father, near the Corner Stores. They went to live in the new dwelling at Nicetown. While living here in 1849, a second daughter, Fannie E., was born, and in 1852, while living at Bridesburg, a son, Henry C., was born. These were the only children of the second marriage. During part of the time that he lived at Bridesburg, he carried on the coal business at the corner of 10th and Callowhill Streets, in Philadelphia. In 1854 he moved to a house he had bought on Centre Street in Germantown. In this house his daughter, Rachel R., was married to Elwood Jones. In 1855 he bought a tract of twenty acres in the western part of the city of Wilmington, Delaware, at that time some distance from the built up portion of the city, but comprising the squares from Front to Fourth Streets, and from Monroe to Van Buren Streets. In the succeeding fifteen years he disposed of this tract gradually in building lots to a good advantage. His first home in Wilmington was at No. 504 Washington Street, where his second wife died on January 31st, 1857. He was married a third time on July 20th, 1858, to Arah A. Pritchett, daughter of Collison and Anne Pritchett, of Caroline County, Maryland, and in 1859, a third daughter, Sallie P., was born while they lived in the Washington Street house in Wilmington.

In 1860 he moved into a large dwelling which he had just completed at the N. E. corner of Third and Jackson Streets in Wilmington. It was situated on part of the twenty acre tract that he bought in 1855. Here he continued to live until January, 1869, when he sold the house and entire square of land to the Catholics; the dwelling has since been used for a residence for the Catholic Bishop of Wilmington, and St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church was soon after erected on the lot adjoining the dwelling. While he lived in this house a fourth and last daughter, Annie M., was born in 1865. Moving in January, 1869, to the house No. 700 West Street, Wilmington, he continued to reside there until his death on the 31st of December, 1878. About 1860 he became much interested in land in Caroline County, Maryland, and between that time and 1870, he bought seven different farms in that county near Greensboro, and at one time owned over 3,000 acres of land there. He did much to improve the land but did not find it the profitable investment that he anticipated.

He was a Friend in religion, having a birthright, and attended the Hicksite meeting at Fourth and West Streets, Wilmington. In politics he was first a Whig and afterwards a Republican. In 1876 he was elected a member of the City Council of Wilmington, from the Fifth Ward, and re-elected in 1878. During most of the time that he was a member he was chairman of the Street Committee, at that time an important and responsible position. At his death in his seventy-third year, he left his last wife to survive him, and four of his five children. He was buried in the Wilmington and Brandywine Cemetery at Wilmington. His widow died June 27th, 1881, and was laid to rest beside him.
